ENGLAND'S

Boasts Are Bigger Than the Army According to Paris Correspondent.

Hold Only Thirty-One Miles of Front Out of Line of Over 600.

British Officers Are in Command Because of Family Connections.

JOHN BULL NEWSPAPER FIGHTER

Paul Scott Mowrer, the Paris correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, exposes the British claims in regard to their part in the war and in the following article riddles their claims in regard to saving the French, etc. He says:

I sincerely believe that if neither the Belgian nor the British armies had taken the field the results would have been about the same. It is possible that at the very beginning, while France was still half paralyzed with surprise, the Belgian defense of Liege and the conduct of the British at Mons did really seriously retard the Germans' march. But I doubt it. Since then, in any case, the part played by the Belgians and British, while certainly brave, has been of ever dwindling importance. On a front nearly six hundred miles long the Belgians today occupy seventeen and one-half miles, the British thirty-one and one-quarter miles. The French not only hold all the rest, but they have more than once been obliged to support both their allies with troops and artillery. As there is no lack of reserves in the French depots, it would at any time be quite possible for the French to take over the entire front. And there is no reason to suppose that points held by the French are weaker than points held by the British and Belgians; quite the contrary. The story of how the British fought the whole German army at Mons went all around the world. But in truth the British did nothing of the sort. I have been at some pains to study that opening campaign. The battle which the Eng-them a minor engagement, and "Neuve Chapelle" a fiasco, in that the gain made was not in proportion to the opportunity or the loss of life. "Never mind," say the English complacently, "John Bull may be slow, but he is sure. We took ten years to beat Napoleon. We will take as long, if need be, to crush Germany!"

"What!" exclaim the French. "Do you think we are going to wait ten years, with all our manhood on the battlefield, all our nation smitten by war, while you get ready to fight the Germans?"

ONE GLORIOUS DAY.

Unless all signs fail the Fourth of July festival and celebration for the benefit of the St. Vincent and St. Thomas Orphan Asylums, set for next Monday on the well shaded and extensive grounds adjoining St. Vincent's, at Payne and Cavewood avenues, promises to be a big success. The final meeting to perfect plans, held last Monday night and attended by large delegations of influential and enthusiastic members of nearly every city parish, disclosed the fact that all the committees are working faithfully and diligently to the end that the various departments entrusted to their charge may be exceedingly attractive and each and every one yield an abundant harvest. Right Rev. Bishop O'Donaghue and numbers of the clergy were present and gave commendation to the work of the Catholic Orphan Society and its officers, who have succeeded in making many needed improvements at both orphan homes. Good music through the day, athletic sports and amusements without number, that include dancing on the green, are among the features of the programme. Everybody is invited to come to this picnic for the orphans, at which there will be an excellent dinner and supper and refreshments of all kinds. The committee in charge is composed of gentlemen who have on former occasions amply demonstrated their ability to make affairs of this kind great successes. They report that they have left nothing undone to outfit and surpass their former record, so everybody may feel certain of a grand time. It is expected the attendance will number at least 15,000.

The wife of Walter E. Eckel, daughter of Victor F. Eckel, son of the late Walter E. Eckel, was sold to St. Mary's Hospital, Louisburg, Kansas, by the President of the Catholic Hospital Association, assisted by Rev. Roman Kramer as deacon and Rev. Alphonse Gasser as sub-deacon. The attendants were Frank E. Walter, brother of the bride; Louis N. Eckel, brother of the groom; Matt Seiler, Edward Gau, John J. Ritman and J. Robert Muhs. The church was thronged with relatives and friends when the organ pealed forth the wedding march, and for the mass an augmented male choir was in attendance. The bride, entering with the groom, wore a beautiful hand-embroidered tulip robe, the skirt of walking length. She wore an imported Venetian lace picture hat, and carried a pearl prayer-book with a floral shower book-mark of white roses and lilies of the valley. Following the ceremony breakfast was served for the two immediate families at the home of the bride. At noon Mr. and Mrs. Ecken left for an extended bridal tour and upon their return will make their home with the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Walter, 514 South Clay street.

ORDAINS SIX PRIESTS.

Eight hundred people in the body of the church and sixty priests in the sanctuary witnessed the ordination of six priests of the Congregation of the Holy Cross on Friday, June 25, in the Church of the Sacred Heart at Notre Dame University, Right Rev. Herman Joseph Aldring, Bishop of Fort Wayne, officiating at the ceremony. The young clerics had all been students at Notre Dame, where they received the degree of A.B., and later made their theological and university courses at the Catholic University at Washington, there taking the degree of S.T.B. The newly ordained priests are Rev. Thomas Leahy, Michigan City; Rev. William Carey, Milwaukee; Rev. Peter Foy, Wexford, Ireland; Rev. John Dovers, Scranton; Rev. William Minnick, New York City, and Rev. Angus McDonald, Detroit. Shortly after the ceremony they all left to say their first holy mass among friends and relatives.

ST. PATRICK'S.

The following ladies will be hostesses at the eucharist and lottery to be given in St. Patrick's school hall, Thirteenth and Market, on Tuesday, July 6, at 8 p.m.: Mesdames M. Mayer, J. J. Keane, Walter Miller, Charles D. Boyle, Walter Morris and Michael Fleming. At the same time and place as above stated the china cabinet held over from the picnic of June 22 will be awarded. All the friends of St. Patrick's congregation are invited to come and are promised a pleasant time. Tallys will be only fifteen cents.

RECEIVES SAD SUMMONS.

The Rev. Father John H. Riley, of Shelbyville, was last Saturday summoned to his boyhood home in Fall River, Mass., by a telegram announcing the death of his father, Daniel Riley, aged eighty-two years, long a resident of that city. Father Riley's last Eastern trip was on account of the illness and death of his venerable

SUCCESSFUL

Annual Convention of Catholic Educational Association at St. Paul.

Large Attendance of Delegates and Many Important Matters Discussed.

Holy Father Sends His Blessing to All Who Work for Education.

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND PREACHED

For the first time in the history of the Catholic Educational Association the annual convention was held in the Northwest, in the city of St. Paul, Minn., the metropolitan see of Archbishop Ireland, who took personal charge of the arrangements there. Catholic educators from all over the country were in attendance, and matters of import to Catholic education received careful discussion.

The delegates arrived in St. Paul as early as June 26, and the work of the convention was taken up Monday afternoon, with the meeting of the Executive Board at the Hotel St. Paul. In the evening at 8 o'clock there was a reception to the members of all departments and sections in the hotel parlors, after which executive committees took the opportunity of meeting and concluding arrangements for the convention.

Right Rev. James McGolrick, Bishop of Duluth, Minn., was celebrant of the Pontifical high mass Tuesday morning, and Most Rev. Archbishop Ireland preached a forcible and inspiring sermon. Following the first regular session, a reception was held in the parlor of the Cathedral by Right Rev. James McGolrick, Bishop of Duluth, Minn., the President of the Catholic Educational Association, assisted by Right Rev. James R. Nugent, former City Counsel of New York and a Democratic leader in New Jersey. In the campaign now being waged in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, where the question of woman suffrage will be voted on in the fall, many contrary and divergent statements have appeared, all supposedly reflecting the attitude of Cardinal Gibbons. It has not been an unusual sight to see the prelate's name used in one city as a proponent of "votes for women" and in another city as opposed to the question, and many newspapers also have quoted him erroneously in this manner. The Cardinal's letter to Mr. Nugent is as follows:

"I still hold the same views on woman suffrage, already so often expressed, that the ballot would drag woman from her domestic duties into the arena of politics and rob her of much of her charm, goodness and true influence. She is indeed a princess, but her God-given rule should lie in domestic and gentle fields and ways. We all believe that she has been so successful in her work there that we fear any change by the carrying of her government into the political field."

Supplementing his letter to Mr. Nugent, Cardinal Gibbons further says:

"Equal rights do not imply that both sexes should engage promiscuously in the same pursuits, but rather that each sex should discharge those duties which are adapted to its physical constitution and are sanctioned by the canons of society. To some among the gentler sex the words 'equal rights' have been, it is feared, synonymous with 'similar rights.'

"To debar women from certain pursuits is not to degrade her. To restrict her field of action to the gentler avocations of life is not to fetter her aspirations after the higher and the better. It is, on the contrary, to secure to her not equal rights so-called, but those supremely important rights which can not fail to endow her with a sacred influence in her own proper sphere; for, as soon as woman treads on the domain of man she must not be surprised to find that the reverence once accorded her has in part, or wholly, withdrawn and that she is destined to be soiled by the dust of the political arena."

"The insistence on a right of participation in active political life is undoubtedly calculated to rob woman of all that is amiable and gentle, tender and attractive; to rob her of her innate grace of character and give her nothing in return but masculine coldness and effrontery. Its advocates are habitually preaching about woman's rights and prerogatives and have not a word to say about her duties and responsibilities."

CARDINAL

Says That Vote Would Soil Woman By Political Dust.

Endowed With a Sacred Influence in Her Own Proper Sphere.

STILL HOLDS THE SAME VIEWS

Cardinal Gibbons, in the hope of settling once and for all any question of his position on woman suffrage, has addressed an open letter to James R. Nugent, former City Counsel of New York and a Democratic leader in New Jersey. In the campaign now being waged in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, where the question of woman suffrage will be voted on in the fall, many contrary and divergent statements have appeared, all supposedly reflecting the attitude of Cardinal Gibbons. MACKIN COUNCIL

The meeting of Mackin Council this week was well attended and the business quickly transacted. Announcement was made that the Advisory Committee had agreed upon plans for the improvement of the club house the work to be started this week. Following the two successful moonlights the members are now turning their attention to the outing and picnic to be held at Fern Grove on July 20, which will be in the nature of a reunion for the members and friends of the council. Members are now enjoying the tennis courts adjoining the club house, and already there have been several hot contests. Tuesday night's excursion attracted a large party and won praise for the committee.

FATHER FITTON

Name and Fame Illumines Pages of New England Catholic History.

Growth of the Church in Stronghold of Bigotry and Intolerance.

Missionary Field That Extended From Boston to New York.

THE SON OF A CONVERT MOTHER

By James A. Rooney, LL.D.

It is a matter of some surprise that those of our separated brethren who waste their time in reviling the church and denying her doctrines can not see some significance in her wonderful growth, particularly in old settled sections of the country where bigotry was almost a creed and hostility to the church a duty. Take, for instance the city of Worcester, Mass. Its town records say that in 1825 there was not a Catholic among its inhabitants and that the first Catholics, who were Irish emigrants attracted to the place by the prospects of work on the construction of the Blackstone canal, arrived in 1826.

What is the condition of things Catholic there today and what significance has the contrast? There are probably not less than 50,000 Catholics in the city of Worcester, for seventeen churches are required to accommodate them, and this week they will celebrate the eighty-first anniversary of the foundation of their first church, then called Christ church, now St. John's, and the man who laid the cornerstone was none other than the famous New England missionary, Father James Fliton, who performed the ceremony July 7, 1824.

It was not only the first church in Worcester but it was also the first church within the limits of the present diocese of Springfield, which was only established in 1870 now boasting of a Catholic population of 330,000 ministered by over 300 priests in over 200 churches.

Father Fliton, whose name and fame illumines the pages of New England Catholic history, visited Worcester early in 1824, while pastor of Holy Trinity, Hartford, and after saying mass occasionally for a time in private houses, purchased the plot on which now stands St. John's church. It was with no little difficulty that he secured the property, for he had to buy it through the friendly offices of three Protestant gentlemen not of the Puritan stripe. They were Francis P. Blake and Harvey Pierce, who, perhaps for their kindly act, were granted the gift of the faith, and William Lincoln, whose brother was afterward Governor of the State. Three years later the little church was finished and occupied by his wife the following children survive: Mrs. Frances Louise Kopp, wife of George C. Koop; John B. Murphy, Jr.; Mrs. Genevieve Gillen, wife of John R. Gillen; Mrs. Clem, wife of Jeffersonville; James P. Murphy of Louisville. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. Augustine's church, when solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Michael Halpin. Delegations from the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Catholic Knights of America and Knights of Columbus, of which he was an active member, attended the funeral. The cemetery, however, is still flying thick and fast that the situation in the Diocese remains unchanged, still drawing the attention of Bosworth or McChesney who are trying to draw from the Governor's contest, neither of whom seem to be able to win the election.

ST. LOUIS BERTRAND'S.

Arrangements for the lawn fete to be held August 4 and 5 on the grounds of St. Louis Bertrand's school, were completed this week, the various booths being assigned to different societies and church organizations. As usual, the Holy Name Society furnishes the General Committee, the others being appointed by President William P. McDonagh. The country store will be in charge of the ladies, as will the refreshment stands, ice cream booths, grab bag and fish pond, but Rev. E. F. Lyons, O.P., the Spiritual Director of the Holy Name Society, is quite confident that when the returns are counted up his organization will be found leading the Sodality, Altar Society and Third Order of St. Dominic.

arrived September 28, 1842, and on the following November 2 began the work of education which has since borne such wonderful fruit.

Bishop Fenwick appointed Father Fliton pastor of the Church of the Most Holy Trinity, East Boston, in 1855, and there under the same patronage as that of his first parish he celebrated his sacerdotal golden jubilee in 1877 and there died the death of a saint September 15, 1881.

GOOD MAN GONE.

When tolling bells at midday on Monday announced the death of Police Commissioner John B. Murphy at his home a pall of gloom overspread Jeffersonville, where he had spent a long and useful life. His death, though not unexpected, removes from St. Augustine's church one of its most exemplary parishioners and the city loses a citizen of the very highest character. Capt. Murphy was born of Irish parents in Toledo sixty-three years ago, coming to Jeffersonville a young man and working up to the position of General Yardmaster for the Pennsylvania railroad. Capt. Murphy was active in the councils of the Democratic party and held political office several times, serving through three terms, from 1890 to 1900, as member of the City Council from the Fourth ward. In 1901 he was appointed a member of the Board of Metropolitan Police Commissioners by Gov. Durbin. He was repeatedly reappointed, twice by Gov. Hanly, once by Gov. Marshall and later by Mayor James E. Burke and Mayor Ernest Rauth, when the appointing power was transferred from the State to the municipal chief executive. He was President of the board at the time of his death. His life, lived as a true Catholic gentleman, ever faithful to the teachings of his holy religion, is worthy of emulation by all who had the good fortune to be numbered among his numerous friends. In parish work he always took an active interest and his kindly advice and counsel were sought and followed in all matters connected with the upbuilding of the church and school. Besides his wife the following children survive: Mrs. Frances Louise Kopp, wife of George C. Koop; John B. Murphy, Jr.; Mrs. Genevieve Gillen, wife of John R. Gillen; Mrs. Clem, wife of Jeffersonville; James P. Murphy of Louisville. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. Augustine's church, when solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. ANNIVERSARY.

With this issue the Kentucky Irish American begins its eighteenth year. Thanks are tendered our readers and friends for their generous support, which the editors and publishers hope will always continue.

PATRIOTIC.

The movement started in Philadelphia and having for its object the singing of the national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," throughout the entire nation at noon on July 4, should meet with hearty accord. Let organizations and people everywhere enter into the spirit of this noonday Fourth of July movement. Boost up the project. Whether at home or abroad, lift up your voices in unison with all true Americans in saluting "Old Glory" by singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

EARNEST IRISH PATRIOT.

Jeremiah O'Donovan Rossa, noted as an Irish patriot and writer, passed to his eternal rest Tuesday evening in St. Vincent's Hospital, Staten Island, where he had been ill for the past year. Born in County Cork, Ireland, in 1831, and while still a boy Rossa became a prominent figure in the Young Ireland movement, and to his country's cause he voted his life, being associated with John Mitchel, grandfather of present Mayor Mitchel of New York City. Rossa spent the last half his life in the United States, twenty years of which were passed under an edict of banishment from Britain and any of her possessions.

Though granted full pardon by Queen Victoria for his revolutionary activities in "freeing" a quarter of a century ago the Fenian uprising, he remained uncompromising in his opposition to British rule. Some years later he returned to Ireland and held a meeting in Cork, but his love for freedom and the United States made his stay of short duration. While there those who did not always agree with him, none ever doubted his purity and love for his native land and adopted country.

MISINFORMED.

According to some of the European papers that we have been reading lately the idea seems to be prevalent, especially in continental countries, that people of the United States are divided on racial lines and that there is no spirit of unity or patriotism among Americans. We are also supposed to be a nation of timid souls and money grabbers with no desire to fight, however great the provocation. Our conduct toward Mexico is cited as proof of this. While it is quite true that as a nation Americans are not looking for trouble, but are even anxiously trying to avoid it, we have no hesitancy in saying that if the national honor were insulted and satisfactory redress were refused, all the pacifying propaganda in the world would not keep America out of a fight. The former Secretary of State has his hobbies and Europe may have its opinions, but facts are facts, insists the Catholic Advance. He never wants to find out what the Sam is capable has only to say on the tail of his coat without saying: "Excuse me."

IRELAND AND GERMANY.

That Ireland's heart is not in the present war none can longer deny, yet why the officers of the Crown and country throw an interesting light on the attitude of the Irish people in the present war. In one writer states that the Irish refuse to enlist to fight the Germans, whom they regard as their friends. No inducement that England can offer will at present entice the young Irishmen to join the army. They feel that this is not their fight and that if England needs assistance she should send to the front hundreds of thousands of English soldiers who are stationed in Ireland before she could ask the Irish to enlist. Here is a paragraph from the letter:

"It comes to forcing the young men to join the army there will be some times, as a great many prefer to die on the hillsides than enlist and fight for England, although there is no preference under the circumstances, yet all feel that the young men are for our war. We have

LAUDS THE IRISH.

The part the Americans of Irish birth and descent have taken in the defense and upbuilding of this country was the general theme of an address delivered by Patrick J. Lennox, of the Catholic University of America, at Mount Olive cemetery, when the graves of deceased members of the Irish-American Union were decorated. "Although praying that God will guide us safe through the present crisis, if Providence ordains that the United States be drawn into the grave struggle, I say without fear of contradiction that the Irish will be found among the first, most eager and bravest defenders of the United States," he said. "The United States has done much for the Irishmen, but there is a tendency in some quarters to deny the part the Irishman has played in winning and maintaining the liberty of this country."

CHURCHES FOR MISSIONS.

The generous gifts of $500 so frequently given for the building of churches in poor districts are bearing abundant fruit. It has meant the conservation of the faith for many poor, abandoned Catholic settlers; and although over one thousand of these chapels have been erected through the aid of the Catholic Church Extension Society in the brief decade of years of its existence, still there are many places anxiously awaiting the great boon of a little church. Any donations sent in the offices of the Catholic Church Extension Society, McCormick building, Chicago, will be gladly forwarded for the erection of other needed churches.

WITH FIELD MASS.

The Knights of Columbus of Lexington and Frankfort have leased the Capital Fair Grounds for a summer outing camp and will inaugurate the season tomorrow with a field mass conducted by the Rev. Father Wiersma of Lexington. The fair grounds are located on the Kentucky river along the Lawrenceburg pike, a mile above Frankfort, and boating, fishing and athletic sports will be chief pastimes.

BOWLING GREEN.

Patrick McNamara, aged seventy-four and a respected citizen of Bowling Green, died at his home there Tuesday night of acute indigestion. He was born in County Clare, Ireland, and came to the United States in 1855 and to Bowling Green in 1861. He leaves four daughters, Misses Ella, Nora, Kate and Mary McNamara, and three sons, James and Thomas McNamara, all of that city, and R. Emmett McNamara, of Elizabeth.

CONDITION HOPELESS.

Physicians and relatives of Archbishop Quigley, now at the home of his brother, Chief of Police Joseph Quigley, in Rochester, N. Y., announced Wednesday that the great prelate was sinking. All members of the family were at his bedside, and Wednesday afternoon the Rev. Edward Hoban, Chancellor of the archdiocese of Chicago, reached the city. It became known that the Archbishop is suffering from a combined attack of heart trouble and paralysis. Paralysis followed the heart attack, and already is said to have affected the left side. Hope for his recovery has virtually been abandoned.

St. Columba's church lost another of its old and respected members when David Mattingly succumbed to Bright's disease at his home, 3417 West Walnut street. BROTHER CELESTINE RETURNS.

Brother Celestine, C. S. C., who will be remembered as James Cassin, a former widely known resident of Louisville, has returned to Notre Dame for the first time in two years, having traveled continuously since the summer of 1913 for the Ave Maria. He came to the university from California, is now making the retreat and will rest a little time before taking up any further work. His relatives expect to see him here this summer.

TELL CITY TRIP.

Officers and members of Company A, Uniform Rank, C. K. of A., are now busy preparing for their trip to Tell City, Ind., on Sunday, August 8, when there will be a joint celebration of the Kentucky and Indiana Knights. Capt. Oscar Maier, Charles Hill and Henry Schulten have the affair in charge and are being assisted by every member of the company. The trip will include a river ride, and it is expected that there will be several hundred excursionists, as those who went last year declare they will make this trip.

COMES OUT EARLY.

Bernard A. Coll, of Jeffersonville, has decided to become a candidate for the office of County Treasurer, having filled the office for two terms and leaving the best record of any who ever held the place. The primary takes place next March and the election the following November.

GARDEN PARTY.

The Emerald Hibernian Social Club have offered a handsome diamond ring to the girl selling the highest number of tickets for the moonlight excursion to be given on the steamer Homer Smith on Thursday, July 29, and on next Monday evening will distribute the tickets to the different contestants at Bertrand Hall. ALVIN STEGER

Candidate For Office For Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Democrats throughout the State are rallying to the support of Alvin Steger, of Owen county, candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the coming primary, August 7, the majority of leaders and voters believing that his nomination means strengthening of the ticket in the November election. Mr. Steger's ability and qualifications for the office are well known, his fame as an efficient and capable clerk being attested to two years ago when he was elected President of the Kentucky County and Circuit Clerks' Association, which is indeed a signal honor. He has served for more than eleven years as Circuit Clerk of Owen county, giving universal satisfaction regardless of political party or affiliation, and the request that he announce for Clerk of the Court of Appeals came from all sections. Mr. Steger is a tried and true Democrat, loyal to the party at all times, and it is believed that he will be given a record breaking vote at the coming primary.

G. B. LIKENS

Leading Candidate in Contest for Democratic Nomination for Secretary of State.

Democratic leaders throughout the State are unanimous in the opinion that G. B. Likens is leading the field in the race for the Democratic nomination.

Likens' record from all classes. Mr. Likens' record as Assistant Auditor was a splendid one, and those with whom he came in contact are now his ardent supporters in the coming primary. This element hopes to see him chosen as a Democratic standard-bearer with a substantial plurality on August 7.

He is a native of Hartford and served as Chairman of the Ohio County Democratic Committee for four years, his ability as an organizer being a big aid to the party in that section.

TWIN CITY LEAGUE.

It was hard to find a man or woman, boy or girl, within the confines of St. Louis Bertrand's parish last Sunday evening that wasn't wearing the smile that won't come off, all because the boys from Limerick had done themselves proud by giving the Champs their first defeat of the season in the Twin City League, the score being 7 to 4, and to add insult to injury drove the heretofore invincible Brownfield from the box. The features of the game were the battery work of Haragan and Higgins for the Bertrands and the batting of Curran for the Champs. The Champs' noisy brigade of roosters found very little use for their noise-making utensils and sat there in a daze after the first few innings, smelling salts being needed to revive Bob Lorain and Leo Osterman. Bruins beat the Imperials 13 to 2 in easy fashion, Olympics won a slugging contest from the K. of C. by 12 to 11, and Mackin beat Trinity in a 7 to 3 game. Tomorrow's schedule is Mackin vs. Olympics, Champs vs. Imperials, Bertrands vs. Trinity and Bruins vs. K. of C. The standing to date:

Champs 10 1 .909

Olympics 8 2 .800

Bertrands 7 2 .778

K. of C. 5 5 .500

Bruins 3 6 .333

Mackin 3 6 .333

Trinity 2 8 .200

Imperials 1 10 .091

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Division 2 will meet Wednesday evening and Division 1 on Thursday evening.

Division 3's meeting will be postponed next Monday on account of the holiday date.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Duluth will conduct a booth at the bazaar for St. James church.

Dave Reilly's augmented choir is improving rapidly and will make a hit at the next initiation.

State Secretary John Hayes appeals for an increase of 60 per cent. in Indiana's membership.

Visits from members of sister divisions always add interest to the proceedings and meetings.

State President Callan and degree team from Milwaukee initiated twenty-two candidates at Octon, Wis.

The New York County Board already has arrangements under way for next St. Patrick's day celebration.

The carnival of the St. Louis Ladies' Auxiliary, held this week in Hibernian Park, was a pronounced success.

A large addition was made to the Ladies' Auxiliary at the recent semi-annual conferring of degrees in Chicago.

St. Clair county, Ill., initiated two classes recently and increased the county membership about 20 per cent.

There are now over fifty candidates awaiting initiation in Division 4, about half of whom have been initiated.

Through the efforts of the Ancient Order the Irish history movement has made great progress in Philadelphia.

The Hibernians of Utica, N. Y., will have their big field day on July 15. For this event they have secured Utica Park.

National President McLaughlin has been invited to make the address at the annual Irish day celebration at Cincinnati on August 15.

Division 4 donated a ten-dollar gold piece to its chaplain, Rev. Father Kealty, for his booth at the St. Louis Bertrand lawn fete.

The Ancient Order and Ladies' Auxiliary presented their State Chaplain, Rev. J. J. Connolly, of Petersburgh, Ill., an automobile.

President Tom Quinn and his associates of the Hibernian Social Club are working hard for the success of their moonlight excursion.

New York Hibernians have secured Sulzer's Harlem River Park for a summer's night festival that will continue through the first week in August.

Hibernians from all over the State are expected in Denver, when the order will have one of the largest Fourth of July celebrations ever held there.

Twenty new members were last week added to the Ladies' Auxiliary at Quincy, Ill. The initiation was conducted by Mrs. Mary McWhorter, the State President.

Division 6 of Jersey City donates a book to the proposer of each candidate secured, and in this way had seventy-eight new applicants proposed and accepted.

The death of Capt. John B. Murphy has taken from the Jeffersonville division one of its leading spirits, one who put the Ancient Order before all others.

Thomas Kennedy and Martin Gilmore were obligated by President Hennessy at the meeting of Division 4 on Monday evening, and E. F. Toomey was elected to membership.

INTENTION FOR JULY.

Our Holy Father has recommended the members of the Apostleship of Prayer to pray during the month of July for the victims of the war. Never, we believe, in the history of mankind have there been so many victims of war among civilized nations. Millions of men are engaged in deadly combat on the battlefields of Europe. The wounded, many of them maimed for life, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. Who can think of the awful sufferings on the field and in the hospitals without joining in the Holy Father's recommendation to pray for them? Again what shall we say of the sad fate of the other hundreds of thousands who are prisoners of war in foreign countries, far from their homes and their loved ones, in the midst of people who find it hard to conceal their bitter hatred and who look on these men as enemies, now become an additional burden?

Most of all are our hearts moved with pity for the countless widows and orphans who are now obliged to face life without the protection and support of loving husbands and fathers. Their cries and their prayers are going up to heaven, pleading for pardon from God for those who are responsible for the dreadful carnage and all the other calamities that follow in the wake of war. Shall we not heed the Pope's request and with all the earnestness of our hearts join with our brethren of the Apostleship all over the world in fervent prayer for these victims? Let us pray to God, our Father; may grant them grace to bear their woes patiently and inspire them to offer themselves as victims of expiation for the sins that have brought such punishment on the nations. The thought of their sufferings will urge us to re-double our prayers for peace.

JOLLY CHILDREN'S GAME.

Here is a game in which all may participate: Select ten small articles, say nuts, corn kernels, wrapped bonbons. Seat the players in two lines opposite each other, and at the head of the line and the foot place a table or taboret. The game is to pass the articles, one at a time, to each player until all are on the table, the other side to pass them back down the line. This must be done rapidly, the side making the best time having the prize. This is loads of fun, and children love it.
